

Pet Star Signs

Individually written personalised Pet Horoscopes
Which includes a printed Birth Chart wheel.

Example Cat/ Dog Horoscope – cost £29.95

Lucy

Cat

Date of birth 7th December 1997

When looking at a Pet's Horoscope the Sun Sign is one of the most important factors in the Chart together with the Moon sign.

The Sun sign is the most easily recognisable part of the Horoscope and deals with motivation.

It will be a pointer to how your pet behaves and how it reacts in an unfamiliar situation. It is also a good indication of how your pet will get along with you and with other members of the family. As well as how your pet will interact with others in a multi pet household.

But it is by no means the only indicator.

The Moon sign is less easily recognisable as it deals with the unconscious side of the character. But it still plays a significant role.

It is often hidden and can best be observed when your pet is relaxed and feeling comfortable on familiar territory.

The Moon sign deals with instinct, habit patterns and emotional response.

If your pet's Moon sign and your Moon sign are the same or in compatible signs it means you will have an exceptionally close bond between you.

Another strong bond is when the Sun sign of one is the same as the Moon sign of the other.

So it could be worth finding out a bit more about your own Horoscope!

By combining the Sun sign, Moon sign, and the element etc we can build up an accurate picture of your pet's character and responses.

Born under the fire sign of Sagittarius the archer Lucy has a cheerful and optimistic nature. She has a happy go lucky attitude to life and takes things as she finds them.

She is friendly to all but not possessive. She is kind and doesn't hold a grudge and is always pleased to see you even if you have left her alone. She is a loving and giving feline but not one that is slavishly devoted. When you are busy and focused on something else that's ok with her. She doesn't fret and take things as they are.

When you are out in the garden Lucy will derive pleasure from walking with you. She loves to play especially games where she can stalk and pounce. She enjoys hunting but may end up feeling sorry for the mouse and let it go. She has a loving and giving nature and will want to share her hunting trophies with you.

Lucy is very independent and can rely on her own resources. She doesn't need or want to be fussed over. When you are there that's nice and when you are not that's ok by her.

She is energetic and active and it is difficult to keep her indoors or fenced in. She needs freedom to come and go as she pleases and her idea of happiness is an open cat flap. She revels in the chance to explore and find out what is going on. If she does have to be shut in she will do her utmost to escape.

She can be an opportunist ready to seize her chances whether with you or with another cat.

Lucy isn't overly fussed about comfort and can sleep almost anywhere. She is capable of making herself at home anywhere and is more interested in what goes on in a household than the location.

She is happiest in a multi cat or pet household where she has the company of other animals.

She isn't a fussy eater and will eat whatever is put down in front of her. Being a Sagittarian more is more to Lucy and she is prone to over eating and prone to putting on weight.

She is a cheery companion and a joy to have around when you are down.

Lucy's Moon sign is sensitive Pisces and she tunes in and senses your feelings and responds.

She is not brave and will hide behind you or another cat when she feels threatened. She is most unlikely to threaten another cat and if one threatens her she is likely to turn tail and disappear.

She has strong intuition and will know you are on your way home long before anyone around her can hear you. She is very perceptive and knows when you want her around and when you don't.

Lucy is a dreamer given to gazing at the clouds and at night up at the stars. Some times she sees things which you can't see which can be spooky.

She thrives on a cuddle and being close to you.

Lucy has a special bond with people or cats born under the sign of Sagittarius and Pisces. Or with their Moon sign in Sagittarius or Pisces. She feels comfortable with the other fire signs Leo and Sagittarius and also with the water signs Cancer and Scorpio.